

Israel: Leading the World into the Post-Oil Age

Presentation on Project Better Place

Thursday, July 17, 7:30pm
Washington DC Jewish Community Center
Aaron & Cecile Goldman Theater
1529 Sixteenth Street NW, Washington, DC
20036

Registration Requested
To RSVP, Click Here

<http://ga6.org/thejat16thandq/events/dpaisraeljul08/details.tcl>

For further information: socialaction@dcminyan.org

In Jerusalem, January 21, 2008, Prime Minister Ehud Olmert announced Israel's intention to be free from oil within a decade. By permitting a new type of mobile operator, Project Better Place, to install and operate a nationwide infrastructure that make fully electric cars more convenient than gas cars, and providing a strong tax incentive for drivers to switch, Israel expects to break its oil dependence in 10 years. The model can be scaled to work in any country – including the United States.

Come hear how Israel is breaking its oil dependence, and how the US can too!

Presentation by: Michael J. Granoff
Head of Oil Independence Policies for Project Better Place

Sponsored by:
*Adas Israel Congregation Green
Committee, Center for Israel Studies at American University, DC Minyan, Embassy of Israel, Jewish Community Relations
Council of Greater Washington, Keshet
Israel Congregation, and the Washington
DC Jewish Community Center*

